foremost statesmen of the National Legislature. Harry Edgerton can then look proudly and gratefully back twenty-two years to the time when, as a Senator of his own State, it became his duty, in conjunction with his colleagues of the Union side, to confront the hydra-headed monster Secession, then just rising up in the South, aiming to crush the life out of the Great Republic; for, as all know, the coil of the serpent was almost around California, and it was at one time a matter of grave doubt whether she would not be encircled in its slimy folds beyond the power of release. But Mr. Edgerton bravely three himself into the breach, and, with his compatriots, breasted the oncoming hordes of treason. He was a Douglas Democrat at the time, and led Douglas Democrat at the time, and led the split from the main body of the California Democracy on the question of standing by the Union. It was largely through his efforts that the adoption, and even the introduction, adoption, and even the introduction,

STONEMAN VS. ESTEE.

The San Jose Mercury says that if people could see Estee and Stoneman together upon the same platform, and hear them discuss the issues of the campaign, Estee's majority would be in the neighborhood of fifty thousand. But to compare the two candidates, as respects their forensic capabilities, would be to make an "odorous" comparison: it would be positive cruelty to Stoneman. Take, for instance, Stoneman's speech at the opening rally of the Democracy in Los Angeles, last Saturday night, and printed in full, cerbuirim, in Sunday's Times. It was a written speech, carefully prepared beforehand; yet, it is a speech absolutely without ideas, force or fitness. It discusses no principle touches argumentatively upon no issue of thecampaign, enunciates no doctrine, gives no reason why his hearers should yote for him.

Bicycling.

To the Editor of The Times:

An article in a late issue of your valuable paper, headed "A Bicycle Club," stated that there was talk of organizing a bicycle club of young men of Los Angeles. The idea is a good one, and should be carried out, as riding the little "machine" is both beautiful, graceful and a very pleasant mode of exercise, and materially less expensive than keeping up a 2:40 rig. Why can we not have a bicycle race at the park during fair week? It would call out an extra attendance, and give young and old aspirants to bicycle fame an opportunity of witnessing the workings and great speed of that wonderful vehicle of the nineteenth century.

and Important Industry. From the Santa Barbara Press] In the Spring of 1872, I planted some seed of the pampas and raised several hundred plants which were sold to all that wanted them to ornament their grounds. Some proved good and others worthless. I have over a hundred hills that were left in nursery rows. The plumes are of all nursery rows. The plumes are of all shades. I have taken up each year some of the best plants and divided them, that being the only safe way to propagate them, after getting plants that are satisfactory. They plume the second season after planting the seed. In 1874 the discovery was made by the children that by tearing plumes out and exposing to the sun, some would become fluffy and others would hang heavy and shatter off. We saved the best of that year's crop. sold some the best of that year's crop, sold some in Santa Barbara and a few in San Francisco. Those were the first good umes that were sent to San Francisco. February, 1874, I sent a small box by express to Peter Henderson & Co., New York. They wrote me that they thought they would sell a quantity of them, if there before the holidays, and ordered three hundred to be sent at once. The following day I received orders to send by express and double the order. Those sent that year were the first good plumes that were sent to New York. This was the starting point of the present important industry Since then I have shipped East 250,-000 plumes, and extended my planta-tion to about two thousand five huntion to about two thousand five hundred hills. I expect to ship fifty thousand of my own during the coming season. The pampas has been extensively planted during the past few years, and Santa Baibara has the reputation of raising the finest plumes that go to the market. The grass attains great size in this section. Some of my oldest hills are in the nursery, which prevents their growing as large as they would if starting alone. Some of my largest hills stand over fifteen feet high, before the plumes come out, which run some distance above the grass. I shipped one hill to Los Angeles last year that weighed, after trimming close, 1850 pounds. The freight down was over 190.

The Hay Question.

To the Editor of The Times:

A little more on the mooted hay question may not prove uninteresting to many of your readers. In the first place, it is safe to say that three-fourths of the hay cut in this county did not yield over two-thirds of a ten to the acre Now, when the expenses of plowing, Seeding, harrowing, cutting, curing, Stacking, baling, and hauling are deducted, the margin of profit for the producer is very light at $12 per ton, and the farmers are certainly very modest in not asking more.

Mr. Dewey, in his letter in the Times of September 6th, estimates the quanty of the process of the same of the standard of the control of t PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Col. Ellsworth, of the Brea rancho, has received $15 per ton on the cars at Ballona, and though he is a very liberal gentleman, I don't think he will haul his hay ten miles to Los Angeles and sell for less than $12.

The railroad company carry free six bales of hay to each car-load of sheep sent to Texas, and quite a quantity goes with the hundreds of car-loads of sheep shipped thither.

I hardly believe in a hay famine, but believe we will need all the hay we have, and lots of straw, too, to last us through the nine months which will intervene before the next year's crop can be cuit, no matter how early or how wet the coming winter may prove, and I think that the present prices are moderate, to say the least.

When Mr. Dewey says: "Our shippers are not able to send one car of hay where they formerly sent six car-loads to the territories east of us, and by reason only of values claimed here by producers, etc.," and says that he has "pretty thoroughly perambulated this county on business intent, a specific of which was the very article in question," (hay), most any one can see at once why he wants hay to remain low. He is a shipper!
